An Organic Menopause

It has become increasingly popular for patients to seek out doctors who are dedicated to making all the time to listen carefully, be readily accessible, and to answer all questions thoroughly. This modality continues to evolve as patients turn to ultra-specialists - such as Dr. Jones - while maintaining their same primary doctors.

Dr. Jones specializes in perimenopause, menopause, postmenopause, as well as andropause, the male menopause, and all in order to derive the maximum benefit of current advances in this field, reduce the chances of the chronic diseases of aging, and to maintain for every patient the best overall health. His highly personalized treatment programs are composed of nutritional optimization including: supplements, prescription exercise programs, and bleeding edge bio-identical hormone replacement therapies. Menopause need not be feared - it can be organic!

How Does It Function?

A complimentary phone interview with Dr. Jones begins your journey. Once recognized as a candidate for treatment, an extensive blood panel testing takes place prior to your one-on-one consultation. Next, you spend as much time as it takes with Dr. Jones, in a warm, caring, and uninterrupted consultation, to review all of your goals, problems, and complaints, your past medical history, a physical examination, and finally, an evidence-based plan to maximize your treatment benefits and all available options.

This time is yours exclusively and is fully uninterrupted - with your questions, concerns, and attention taking the center stage.

Post-consultation, the essential coaching and cheerleading for the maximization of your goals and problem-rectification is received. You will be given Dr. Jones' personal cell phone number for instant accessibility and confidential care.

Patients pay an affordable annual or monthly fee, unlike traditional insurance-based medicine. You will have none of the forms, eligibility requirements, or compromises to your privacy with data banks. Your needs, health, and well-being receive all of the attention.
